Online Accounts. (please ignore this question if you do not have an online account)

Do you have a dual authorisation system?

What is a Dual System?

- At least two people involved in online payments (similar to having two cheque signatories) one to input and one to authorise.
- If you do not have a dual system, we would strongly recommend implementing one, if possible.
- In some cases, it may be proportionate and practical for low-value transactions, up to a set limit, to be set-up and authorised by one individual (as with debit/credit cards), but the statements should always go to someone else and be properly reviewed.
